Co-Captain Larry - Most Athletic

Probably the best known number on the varsity football team this year was 10, belonging to Larry Cox, co-captain and star half-back of the team. Larry who was recently voted the Most Athletic boy in the senior class, is also a member of the track team and the Letterman's club. In spring, he will help in planning for the prom.

Eating and watching television – especially "adult" westerns are Larry's main likes. He also enjoys playing in rough basketball games during the off season. Larry, like practically all seniors, is opposed to filling out all those college application blanks. Bus rides, most field rock and roll music, and sides that, it was covered with people who throw things mud. As Larry tackled one of during assemblies are Lemon-Monroe's men, he somehow landed in a miniature lake of mud. The result was a thoroughly drenched uniform. When the game started again after the half-time, there were, strangely enough, three teams on the field...Lemon-Monroe, Walnut Hills, and one player in a white uniform.

And I'm sure that a few of Mr. Woodward's physiology classes are still wondering why Larry never appeared to display his physique when they were studying muscles. What ever happened, Larry?

Next year will find Larry at either Harvard or Miami University, where he will major in social science. After completing college, Larry plans to work with underprivileged teen-agers. –Sue Lapirow

Although his football career at Walnut Hills has had many exciting moments, the Lemon-Monroe game last fall holds its special memories for Larry. It seems that the football was the best, and be-

High school life offers limitless riches and opportunities to the student who crosses the threshold. Here the myriad facets of the world of literature, science, and the arts open before him. These educational experiences form the cornerstone for all his life to come.

our lofty standards . . .

Our mounting enthusiasm . . .

The three o'clock bell has sounded, but the school is still alive with bustling activities. Calls sound across the field where athletes run track or play ball. Strains of music are heard from the band room. Typewriters click in the remote corners of the school where the publication staffs work.

Our soaring spirits . . .

The seniors, the directing and motivating force behind many of these activities, are busy as their year draws to a close. With graduation near, they realize they have gained wisdom and insight from their experiences, while they help our school "rise to the highest."

And our ascending hopes.

High school plays an essential part in the forming of the ideals of Youth. As Youth, we are the future of our whole country. Consequently it is our duty, as well as our privilege, to benefit from our school's great storehouse of knowledge. Thus we will become better citizens and "bring fame and glory to Walnut Hills High."

The Faculty

The most important link in carrying on Walnut Hills' chain of traditionally high standards and fine reputation, is its faculty. Serving as teachers, counsellors, and advisors to various extra-curricular activities, the 85 members of the faculty have not only gained the admiration of the students, but also brought about a wonderful student-teacher relationship, which enables the students to make personal contact with them. The pupils are instilled with a deep respect for learning, while broadening their horizons by being introduced to new views and aspects of each subject. They regard the teachers as friends, as well as instructors, to whom they can go if they need help, and to whom they can take their individual problems. Much time is also devoted by the faculty members in their capacity as sponsors of Walnut Hills after school clubs, and organizations. It is this, in addition to their competence as teachers, that prepares Walnut Hills students so well for college, and, on a broader scale, for life.

Walnut Hills welcomes new Principal

MR. RICHARD W. MECHEM

During the summer months, Walnut Hills students eagerly watched the newspapers for information concerning their new principal, Mr. Richard Mechem. They learned that he was formerly the Director of Studies at a school for boys in Massachusetts, which had only 500 students as compared to the 2000 boys and girls at Walnut Hills. Since his coming to Walnut Hills, Mr. Mechem has tried to become personally acquainted with as many of the students as he possibly can. Our principal has also supported school functions whenever it was possible. It has indeed made Walnut Hills students proud to see their principal cheering the team to victory with them at a football game.

Teachers and students alike look to Mr. Mechem with great and inestimable pride. Mr. Mechem has advocated many new principles in the school, such as the institution of an honor system. He has also concerned himself especially with applying to colleges. He has already instituted the early applications of juniors. It is without a doubt that Mr. Mechem will help uphold the prestige of Walnut Hills High School in scholarship and preparation for college and later life.

Morning announcements are broadcasted by Mr. Mechem.

Mr. Mechem and Miss Shigley discuss school business.

Mr. Mechem presides at a policy committee meeting.

Assistant Principal keeps school running smoothly

MR. HOWARD L. LUEDEKE

Mr. Howard L. Luedeke, in his duties as assistant principal, is well acquainted with many students of our school. Under his management the supply store has run a very successful year. Mr. Luedeke also takes both attendance and disciplinary records, and advises Student Court. In addition he organizes lunch room procedure and fire drills.

MR. CARL PEETS
Boys' Counselor

Counsellor for upper school boys this year has been Mr. Carl Peets. Junior and Senior boys consulted him about colleges and scholarships. Much of Mr. Peets' time was devoted to the Senior Class as he became the new Senior Class Adviser. Besides these duties, Mr. Peets has been adviser to Student Council and Big Brothers.

MISS VICTORIA MANOUKIAN
Girls' Counselor

Miss Victoria Manoukian, last year's lower school counsellor, for the past year, has helped upper school girls as their counsellor. Advising senior girls on college choices and applications was a great part of her job. Miss Manoukian also advises Senior Council and supervises Student Aid, Big Sisters, and Ushers for many different school events.

MISS BEVERLY LOGAN
Lower School Counselor

Changing from an elementary school to a large high school is a big step for seventh graders. One of the goals of Miss Beverly Logan, lower school counsellor, is to help these youngsters adjust to academic and social life at Walnut Hills. In addition to this, she acts as faculty adviser to Junior Student Council.

The Curriculum

English:

To the Walnut Hills student no subject is more vital than English, for in all his subjects he is constantly expressing himself oraly and on paper. Also the student must be able to read comprehensively for any subject which he elects to his program. Therefore, English is compulsory through all six years of high school, and seniors with superior ability are placed in the Advanced Standing English course. With this extensive study the pupil is able to use his language to the best of his ability.

History:

History courses serve to connect the past and the present. By studying previous international problems, the pupil learns what might be done to solve similar issues which make the nation's headlines. A study of current events and governmental processes makes the student more capable of sifting facts from propaganda and thus prepares him to become a better citizen.

Modern Languages and Latin:

Exchange programs, faster transportation, and the world situation have brought the people of all lands closer together. Therefore the study of languages has become more important than ever before. Walnut Hills pupils are given a sound background in this field with a requirement of three years of Latin—the basis of all languages. After the ninth grade the student may continue this subject and might even enter the Advanced Standing Latin course, or he may undertake the study of either French, German, or Spanish. By graduation the pupil is prepared for any language work he may wish to enter.

Math:

The chief objective of any mathematics course is to develop sound reasoning. Thought processes must be precise in setting up algebraic equations, proving theorems, and determining quadratic functions. From the seventh grade to the Advanced Standing Math course, the student learns principles which, not only help him in college, but help him to reason clearly throughout life.

Science:

With the recent advance toward conquering space, science has become one of our most vital fields. In the seventh to ninth grades this subject is compulsory—lower school pupils taking courses in general science, ninth graders studying biology. To meet graduation requirements, all Walnut Hills students must complete a course in either physics or chemistry. Courses in zoology and physiology complete the science program.

The Arts:

Students find much enjoyment in pursuing interests in the field of art, music, home economics, and industrial arts. These subjects enable the pupil to develop natural abilities and to become more skillful in these fields.

Members of our faculty converse over cups of coffee during their free periods.

The entire faculty assembles at the annual tea to welcome new teachers to Walnut Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnham welcome you into their home.

Mr. Mechem and his family enjoy an afternoon around the television set.

Listening to the phonograph is a favorite pastime of Mr. and Mrs. Luedeke.

The Classes

We are the students of Walnut Hills High School. Six years of studying and participating in extra-curricular activities at school have enabled us not only to develop individual personalities, but also to form everlasting friendships. We have received a truly liberal education in which each student has brought forth his contribution to classroom discussion. Through these classroom discussions, we have acquired a feeling for the ideals and beliefs of American democracy. We learn not only facts and figures, but also the worth of a novel or idea. Each of us is influenced by the school, but each student contributes a little something of himself to it on return. It is the students who have created the tradition and renowned academic reputation of Walnut Hills. Whether or not the work we do now in activities and classrooms has any direct bearing on the work we pursue in later life, we will always appreciate the strong foundation Walnut Hills has given to us.

Being president of the Class of '58 was only one of the activities that kept Bev Tucker busy this year. He participated in both the Honors English and Math courses. As a member of Student Council, Bev helped initiate the honor system in upper school classes this term. He was also a Big Brother and a member of D.B.

Vice-president of the class was John Grow. Last year found John active in Big Brothers, a member of the Student Council Public Relations Committee, and treasurer of B.O.A.

Balancing the bank book for the senior class this year was treasurer John Goldman. Besides being president of Big Brothers, John was chairman of the Honor System Committee of Student Council. John had a very busy year taking Honors Chemistry and being president of Chemistry Club. He also participated on the track team and was a member of Phi Epsilon.

Judy Lingle handled the secretarial duties of the class of '58. An active participant in mainy school activities, Judy was Chatterbox News Co-editor, a member of Student Court, a Big Sister, and a member of Radio Guild. In addition, she was part of the Honors English Class.

MR. CARL PEETS

DR. EDWIN H. SAUER

June 11, 1958. The day which had long been awaited was finally here. As the seniors walked down the aisle to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" they felt a deep sadness. Thoughts of six years of work and fun passed through their minds. They remembered their first day at Walnut Hills as they sat in the auditorium, waiting to hear the fates and fortunes of the class members. Winding their way through nostalgic memories, they found themselves at the eighth grade party. Soon it came time to choose the class advisor, Dr. Edwin Sauer, who remained only to the end of the junior year, because of his appointment at Harvard.

Continuing down the path of memories, they came upon the freshman party, "Cherchez la Frosh." The sophomore year was recalled with its rushing social clubs, joining upper school activities, and planning the sophomore class party. The "greatest Peanuts ever" came and went. Thoughts of college took head position in their minds. Mr. Peets became class advisor. Now senior year was finished too. Graduation day had come and the winding path had been successfully traversed; but it was only the "end of the beginning"; the seniors were now prepared to enter upon the rough and rocky road of life.

BILL JOHNSON . . . . . Treasurer

Wielding the gavel for the Class of '59 was Vic Cooper. Besides being president of the class, Vic was also on the swimming team and leader of the Band for the Peanuts of '57. Also, being active in Delta Beta fraternity kept Vic very busy.

Vice-president of this year's junior class was Alan Gordon. Besides taking over in the president's absence, Alan was co-director of the Peanuts of '57, president of the Band, and a member of both Beta Omicron Alpha fraternity and Hi-Y.

Taking minutes for the Class of '59 and sending thank you notes were only some of the activities in the busy life of Jane Collett. Besides participating actively in Girls' Athletic Association and Y- Teens, she was a member of Student Council. Jane was also in the pony chorus of the Peanuts.

Bill Johnson managed the Junior Class treasury this year. In his capacity as treasurer he not only balanced the financial books of the class but also sold slides of the Peanuts. Bill was a Big Brother and a member of Hi-Y and Beta Omicron Alpha fraternity. He was not only the co-chairman of the Business Committee of the Peanuts of '57 but also in the cast.

In Walnut Hills tradition, the Class of '59 began its school year by producing "the best Peanuts ever," in which a Kentucky mountain family, the Urps, were followed on their trip to the county fair. The Juniors brought their first big class project to a close by attending the football game and holding a cast party and dinner in the lunchroom. At Christmastime the Juniors combined efforts with the Freshmen, Sophomores, and Seniors to welcome home the alumni, with the Class of '59 handling the decorations and posters for the Homecoming Dance. The next project undertaken was the annual Junior Class Play, another Walnut Hills tradition. This year's production was Thornton Wilder's Our Town, under the direction of Mr. Wayne Gregory. For their project the Juniors, in cooperation with the graduating class, held the most memorable event of the high school year, the B-A prom. These projects have all served a common purpose. Not only have they brought the Class of '59 closer together, but they have shown the Juniors how much an entusiastic group can accomplish through cooperation and combined efforts.

Peanuts take up much of the Junior's time. Here the Singing Chorus members pose for a picture at a rehearsal.

After hours of strenuous rehearsal the ponies kick to the tune of "Give my Regards to Broadway."

Junior

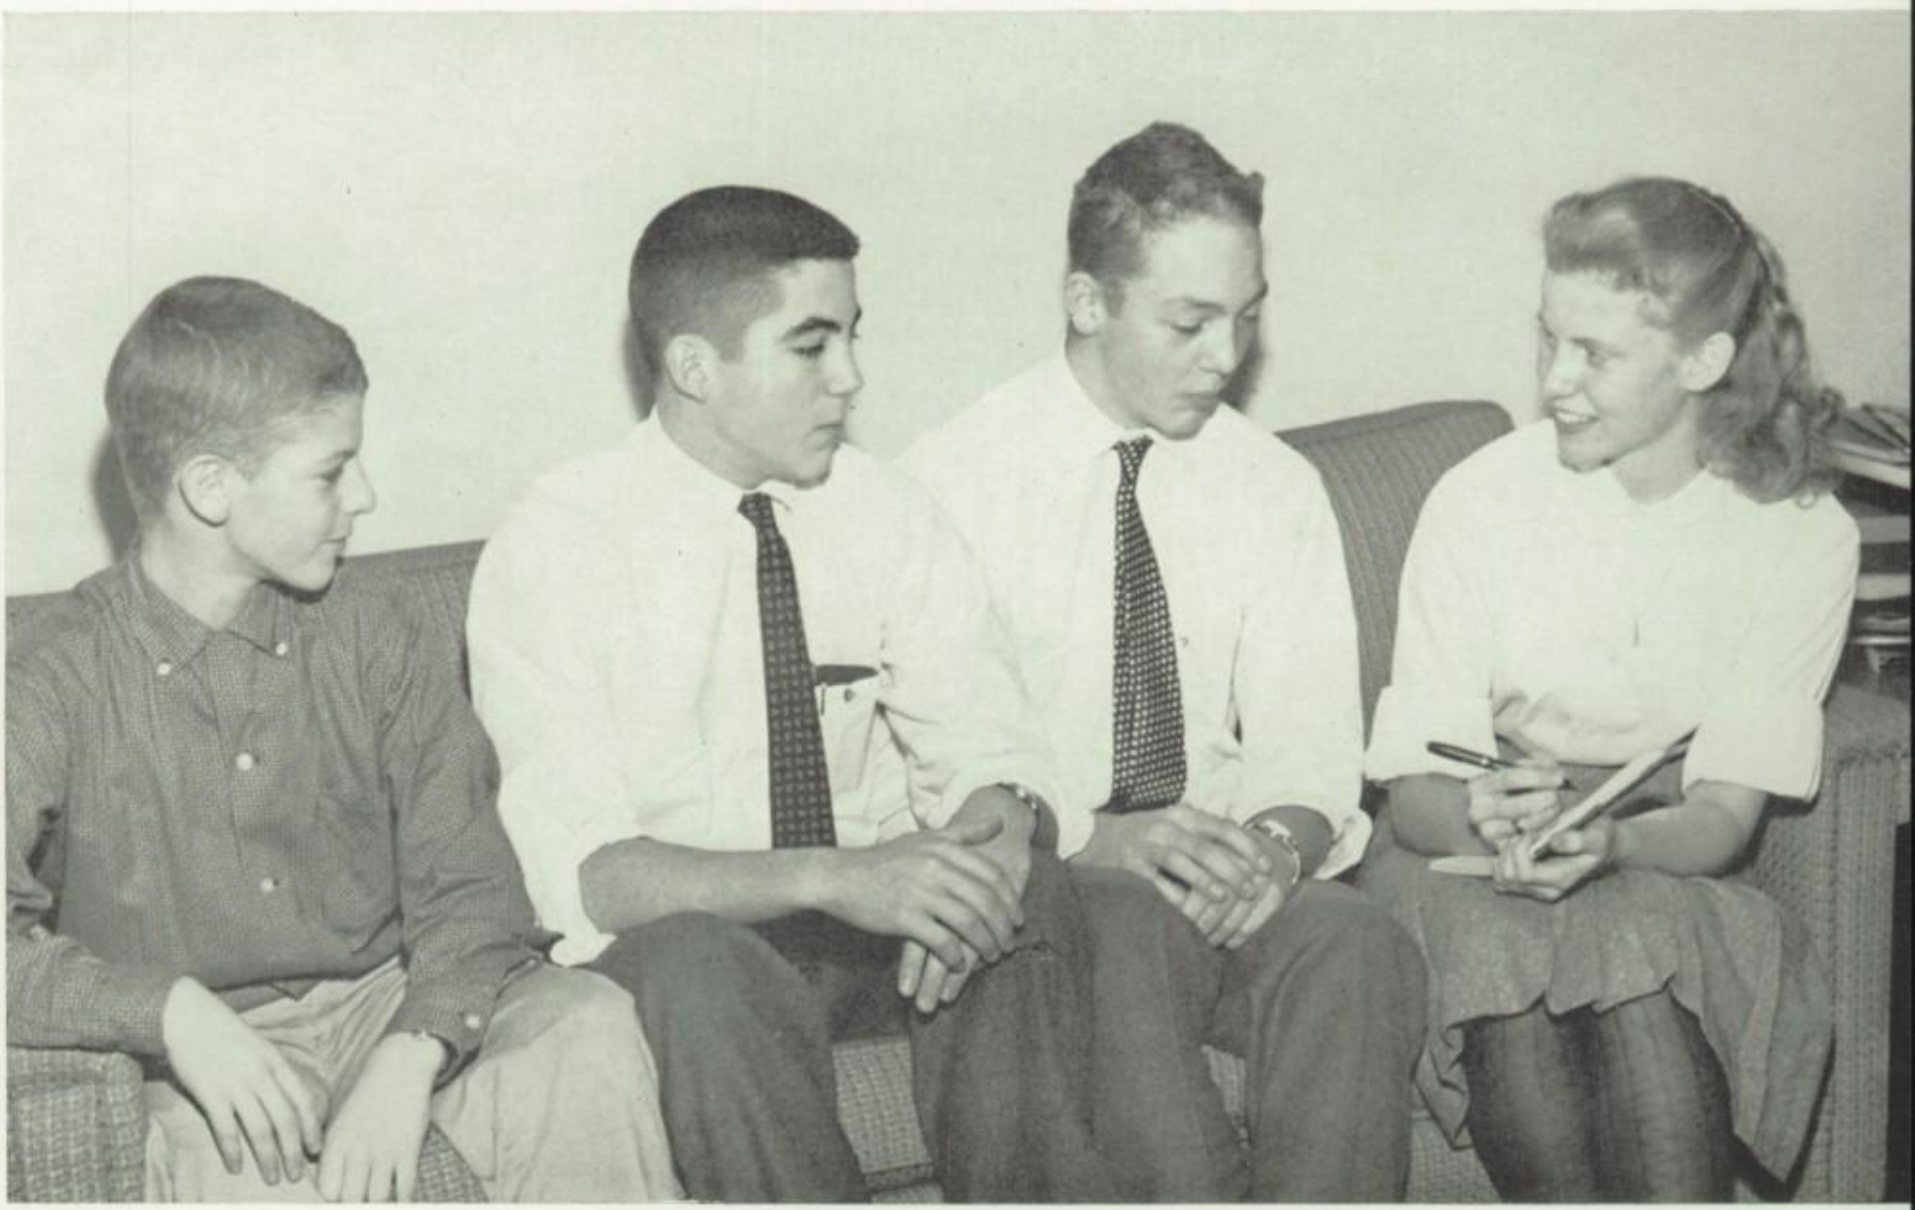
The escapades of a Kentucky mountain family renders a unique touch to the Peanuts Continuity.

Snaps

Phil Mygatt and Jane Collins take part in the school's most popular activity—janeing.

Carol Schellenberg shows her class ring to Nancy Smith.

Away from the familiarity of desks and blackboards, Sue Goeddel pursues her studies in the quiet of the circle.



Don Simmons, treasurer; Rick Knauft, vice president; Dick Holt, president; Lynn Blubaugh, secretary.

DICK HOLT . . . . . President

RICK KNAUFT . . . . . Vice-President

LYNN BLUBAUGH . . . . . Secretary

DON SIMMONS . . . . . Treasurer

Along with being President of the Sophomore Class, popular Dick Holt belonged to the advanced standing Math course and played on the reserve basketball team. He rounded out his busy schedule as a member of the Walnuts Drill team of 1958 and of Delta Beta Social Club.

Rick Knauft served as vice-president of the class of '60, and since several times before Rick had been a class leader, his experience was helpful to the other officers. The Veep's outside interests centered around athletics, for he ran on the Cross-Country Team and also participated on the Varsity Swim Team.

Busy Lynn Blubaugh was chosen to record the minutes. Although she wrote for the Chatterbox news staff and was a member of the G.A.A. Board, she still found time to be an active member of the French Club and Senior Y-Teens. Her interests in dancing led to Lynn prancing as a Walnut's pony.

Handling the financial projects for the sophomores was treasurer, Don Simmons. Don's outside activities included the French Club and the Chatterbox News Staff. He was also chairman of the entertainment committee for the Sophomore dance, "Sophisticated Swing" and suggested many ideas for the dance's entertainment.

The Sophomore Class, finally full-fledged senior-high students began the 1957-58 school year eager to learn and ready for responsibilities.

Improving scholastic averages, participating in sports and other extra-curricular activities, joining social clubs, and striving for class unity were some of the individual projects of sophomores.

As a group, the enthusiastic sophomores, encouraged by class advisor, Mr. Lloyd Bailey, displayed great interest in class activities.

Their first attempt at the money-making business was selling holiday wrapping paper. This attractive paper sold readily.

The next class achievement was the distribution of Sophomore Directories. The name, address, zone, and telephone number of each class member were printed in this fifty-cent booklet.

The final project of the Sophomore Class, and the one which did the most to create class unity, was the "Sophisticated Swing." Students from all grades were welcomed, and the dance was very successful.

Their individual and group accomplishments enabled all the member of the Class of '60 to look back on the accomplishment of their sophomore year with pride, and to look forward to their junior and senior years at Walnut Hills with the highest expectations and goals.

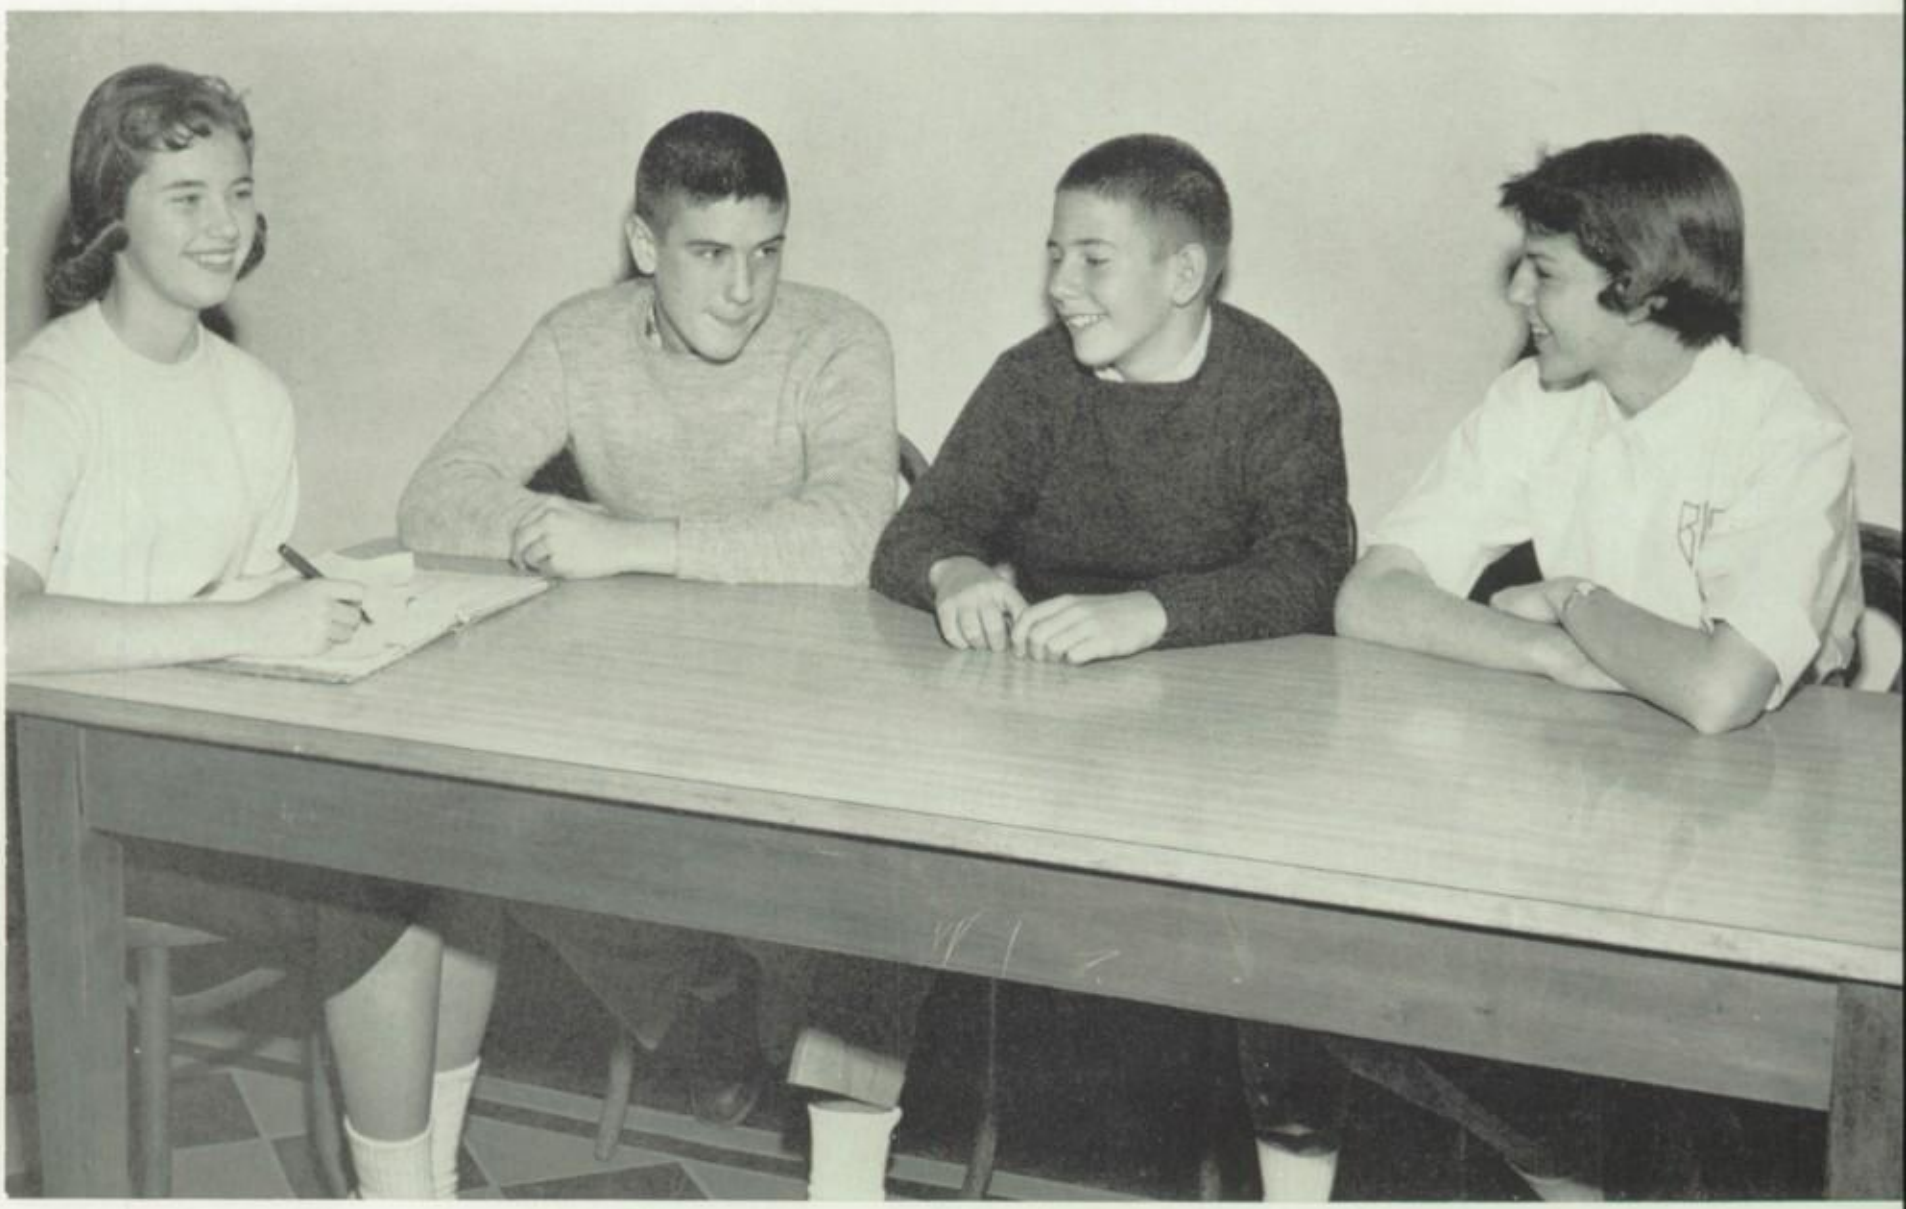
A Sophomore happily undertakes the class project of selling wrapping paper.



Mimi Hill, secretary; Bob Yeager, president; Burk Tower, treasurer; Barbara Beinhart, vice president.

Freshman Class Officers

BOB YEAGER . . . . . President

BARBARA BEINHART . . . . . Vice-President

MIMI HILL . . . . . Secretary

BURK TOWER . . . . . Treasurer

Serving his third year as a class leader, President Bob Yeager has proven himself to be competent in many ways. Besides being a member of Junior Student Council, he displayed his athletic ability by participating on the freshman football, basketball and baseball teams.

Active Barbara Beinhart carried on her duties as treasurer of the class of '61 as well as being co-chairman of Junior Y-Teens. She also has devoted much of her time to G.A.A. activities since her seventh grade year. Displaying a strong school spirit, she was captain of the Junior High cheerleaders and helped in organizing the new Pep Club.

Serving her second year as class leader, popular Mimi Hill acted as secretary for the freshman class. Her other activities included being a member of Junior Student Council, and leading the lower school girls as co-chairman of Junior Y-Teens. She has always maintained a high scholastic average.

Assisting the president this year was Burk Tower, vice-president of the class of '61. Besides keeping his grades high he has played on the freshman football team for the last two seasons and went out for baseball this year.

Although in many activities and organizations freshmen were still considered part of the lower school, nevertheless they were able to get a taste of high school life and more advanced subject matter.

Guided by Mr. Lunsford, the class advisor, the freshmen have sponsored and supported many projects for the benefit of the whole school, such as taking charge of publicity for the Homecoming Dance in December.

Carrying out the tradition of Walnut Hills, freshman beanies were again sold. Proud freshmen wore their beanies throughout the school year. Their first class party, anxiously awaited during the seventh and eighth grades, turned out to be a huge success.

In the classroom they studied some subjects which they chose themselves. Speech was offered to those who were interested in dramatics. A few biology classes, part of a city-wide experiment, were taught by television. Algebra, Caesar's Gallic Wars, and Shakespeare were just a few subjects offered to the freshmen for the first time.

As this year comes to a close, the freshmen look forward to their coming years at Walnut Hills.

The Activities

Fun is intangible but ever-present in the many activties enjoyed by the Walnut Hills student. Each activity does its part in making our school more than just a school. With the 3 o'clock bell signaling the end of classes for the day, an entirely different phase of Walnut Hills school life begins. Extra-curricular activities for most students, are a significant part of their routine. Whether one enjoys writing for a publication, acting in a play, or planning a dance, there are extensive opportunities to pursue and develop individual interests. Not only do students join groups already organized but they may form new groups as the interests arises. In this way each student is encouraged to express himself in whatever way he finds most stimulating. Participation in activities develops leaders as well as giving practical experience in working with others. A whole new world is opened to the students who participate in the activity of his choice.

Student Council

Student Council is one of the most important organizations run by the student body at Walnut Hills. Through home room representatives the entire student body has a chance to express its opinions. Working as a miniature model of the United States Government, the Executive Committee plans an agenda for the Council. The bills on this agenda are brought up, discussed and voted upon. Council's judicial branch, Student Court, is where violators of school laws are tried and punished by fellow students. Another of its purposes is to strive to maintain friendly relations between the faculty and the student body.

Student Council consists of one representative from each home room in the tenth through twelfth grades. There are also representatives at large elected by the eleventh and twelfth grades. Junior Student Council sends members to observe the Council meetings, and to report to their own organization.

This year, for the first time, Student Council meets once a week. The Executive Committee, which also meets weekly, includes officers, the heads of committees, the Editor of the Chatterbox, President of Student Court, President of the Senior Class and the President of the Interfratority Council. During this executive meeting, the agenda is discussed and planned for the following meeting of the entire Student Council.

Council sponsors many social affairs throughout the year, such as the Homecoming Dance and open houses during the football and basketball seasons. This year Student Council has been working on an honor system which will be installed in coming years. It will involve seniors at first, and later on the lower grades. Not only the members of Student Council, but the whole school profits from this group, making it one of the big forces behind the organization of our school.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

Presiding over Student Council meetings is only one of Fred Starr's many activities. He is also director of Archeology at the Cincinnati Museum of Natural History. His other interests include Latin Club and Advanced Standing Latin. Fred is also a member of Delta Beta and Big Brothers.

Serving as vice-president of Student Council is Hank Kasson, secretary of Delta Beta fraternity. He is also a member of Big Brothers, Beta Hi-Y, and both the cross country and baseball teams.

Taking minutes at Student Council meetings is Ann Fry. She is also a member of Big Sisters, A Cappella Choir, and is on the Y-Teens Cabinet. Last year Ann was a member of Daisy Chain.

Judy Alberts, corresponding Secretary of Student Council, serves as Secretary of G.A.A. and of the Ohio Region of O.V.F.T.Y. She also keeps busy with cheerleading and Big Sisters.

Although Eric Carlson is treasurer of Student Council, secretary of BOA fraternity, and co-feature editor of the Chatterbox, he still finds time for Advanced Standing English. He also participates in Big Brothers, the Senior play, and Chemistry Club.

The Homecoming Dance is Student Council's biggest project.

Student Court and Senior Council

Student Court is a strong and effective organization at Walnut Hills. It is the judicial body of our student government, and is strongly supported by our new principal, Mr. Richard Mechem, who attends its weekly meetings. The purpose of this body is to impress upon offenders of school laws the need for cooperation in getting along with others and to live by the established rules. Students guilty of misdemeanors are brought before Student Court where they are tried and sentenced accordingly. The punishments are designated only to make these offenders aware of the existing rules for proper student behavior at Walnut Hills.

Senior Council is composed of five senior girls who aid Miss Manoukian in many functions, both in and out of school, and bring about a closer relationship between the girls and the counselors. Choosing ushers for school productions and selecting girls to represent Walnut Hills at outside events, managing the collection of Student Aid money, and advising the Big Sisters are the main tasks of the Senior Council. The Council meets once a month to discuss problems, evaluate past projects, and plan work for future activities.

The main function of the fifty girls chosen for Big Sisters is to guide new students through their first year at Walnut Hills. The older girls follow the progress of their little sisters throughout the school year. The girls get acquainted at a party in the fall where they are welcomed by the president of Big Sisters, the president of Student Council, and the counselors. The executive committee of Big Sisters chooses members of the organization for the following year. At the beginning of each year the Big Sisters elect five members of their organization to comprise this executive committee.

One of the oldest organizations at Walnut Hills is Big Brothers, which welcomes the new boys at a football party and treats them to a track meet in the spring. The main goal of these boys is to integrate new boys into Walnut Hills High School life. To qualify for this organization, an upper school boy must have a "C" average and be in extra-curricular activities.

When June comes about, REMEMBRANCER staff members heave a sigh of relief. Finally the long months of work and a lot of fun are over and the annual is ready to be distributed to the student body.

Early in the year the staff decided to make changes in the yearbook. For the first time a colored picture was used. The size of the annual was increased to what it had been in 1948 and a new section for patrons and sponsors was added. And finally individual pictures, rather than homeroom pictures, were used in the classes section. This year the REMEMBRANCER was printed by the Benson Printing Company.

1958 Remembrancer

Busy days, especially near deadlines, were spent in 331, the REMEMBRANCER Room. Between snatches of work, staff members could be seen eating potato chips and pretzels and drinking the Pepsi Colas left over from the Remembrancer Open House, which was held on January 24.

After all the pictures had been taken, identified, sent in to the engraver, and returned; after all the copy had been written, corrected, typed, and returned for proof-reading; after all the pages had been planned over and over again to get the best effect; the final product was ready to be delivered. Only then was the job completed, ready for the critics, the student body of Walnut Hills.

The Gleam

"Sursum Ad Summum, the motto we uphold"—our motto has been upheld by the annual literary magazine, the Gleam. Our magazine, The Gleam, is the only publication of its type in the entire Cincinnati public school system and has been recognized by Cincinnati City Council for its distinctive place among school publications. It is the oldest Walnut Hills publication, as it was first put to press in 1896. Although the Gleam has served as both an annual and a newspaper in past years, today it is printed as an opportunity for the student body to illustrate their literary talent. The short stories, poems, essays, and illustrations are not contributed only by upper classmen, but also by members of the junior high.

During the year there were two projects for the raising of additional funds. These were selling soft drinks at the Walnuts and ,in cooperation with the Chatterbox, sponsoring an open house, "Hearts in the Hills." This open house, given on Valentines day, featured a southern mountain band and country music.

The selecting and sorting of articles for the Gleam is done by the literary staff. This staff contributes articles and encourages other students to have their writings published. English teachers are contacted by members of the literary staff and asked to turn in any interesting or stimulating material that students have written. After all the articles for publication have been chosen, the literary staff assumes another duty: that of typing all the material which will go to press.

Although most publications have both an art and a make-up staff, Gleam has combined these two to form one staff which first decides on which articles will have art work with them and proceeds to illustrate these articles. After the order of the articles has been decided, this staff decides the general makeup and lay-out of each page. It might be said that this staff adds the finishing touch to the Gleam since they are responsible for its cover.

In the fall the art-makeup staff combines efforts with the business staff for a successful subscription drive—the former contributing posters; the latter collecting money. It is the job of the business staff to handle all incoming money and most of the expenses. This staff decides which materials for publication are in accordance with the funds on hand.

The three Gleam staffs are supervised by the editor, Jeff Piker; the faculty advisor, Mr. Barron Wilson; and art advisor, Mr. Glen Volz. Working together, the staffs, editors, and advisors product a literary magazine which truly upholds the tradition of Walnut Hills.

The Gleam literary staff reads over literary articles.

Jerry Crounse and Nancy Hines, co-editors, and Mr. Glesen, the advisor, plan an issue of the Chatterbox.

The school weekly news publication, the Chatterbox, is an integrated effort of many staffs working together to publish the best newspaper possible.

Although the student body receives the paper in their homerooms on Tuesday morning, it is put together Thursday night. At these sessions the participating young journalists learn how to work with each other and exchange ideas. The work to be done in the evening includes typing articles, spacing them, placing them on the dummy sheet, copyreading the articles, and writing headlines for them.

Under the advisorship of Mr. Alexander Glesen, the newspaper conducted student opinion poles on such subjects as "Should Proportional Representation Be Retained?" New features of the newspaper this year included a six-page publication on certain occasions, a weekly cartoon, and the new social columns, Pandora's Box and Off the Wires. Another new feature was the change to a different type of printing process. This new process proved to be less expensive than the old type and thus kept the paper from developing a financial deficit. This new style of printing also paved the way for a weekly cartoon and a more attractive advertising section.

This year, as in the past, it has been the policy of the paper to encourage and print open letters to the editor. The paper attempts to print all news that will be of interest to the student body in general. This includes news from sources outside of the school as well as actual school news.

The Chatterbox has changed considerably since its beginning in 1923. At that time it was a mimeographed sheet that appeared bi-weekly. It consisted only of news articles and editorials. Since that time the paper has been enlarged to include feature articles and advertisements, has had its printing made more complex, and is published each week.

The thoughts of the student body are expressed on the second page in the form of editorials and numerous feature articles. The remainder of the paper is devoted to advertisements and news.

In February the Chatterbox held its annual open house with the Gleam. In May the annual banquet was held and next year's editors announced.

Cum Laude

Cum Laude and Quill and Scroll are the two honorary societies at Walnut Hills. The Cum Laude Society marks the highest level of scholastic achievement. To become a member a student must have either a 3.51 average at mid-year or a 3.25 average at the end of the fifth marking period.

Quill and Scroll

The Quill and Scroll is the international honorary society for outstanding high school journalists. The members of Quill and Scroll must have worked for at least two years on a school publication, while maintaining a "B" average in their studies.

This year the Walnut Hills Debate Team has been very active in the Greater Cincinnati Speech League. The debates are all held at St. Xavier High School. The topic for this year's debates was "Resolved: The Foreign Aid program should be substantially increased." This year the debate club members were divided up into teams, and every week four different members debated, two affirmative and two negative. In this way the whole club received debating experience. This experience was used effectively in the annual town meeting assembly. Much appreciation must go to Mrs. Corn, the advisor, who worked many hours with the team, and to Mr. Mechem, who has publicized and encouraged debating as a worthwhile extracurricular activity.

Senior Y-Teens

Creating understanding, and working towards world brotherhood are two of the aims of Sr. Y-Teens. Under the leadership of Liz Grubb, president, the five squads undertook many philanthropic projects. The annual style show, an open house, and a dance given jointly with Hi-Y were only a few. Also individual squads visited Allen House and made Christmas presents for the Children's Convalescent Home.

Membership in Sr. Y-Teens was open to all tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade girls.

A religious series was conducted during the first semester, and churchmen of all faiths explained their religion and beliefs to the Hi-Y group. In addition to sponsoring the ALL-Sports Banquet, Hi-Y presented a dance with Y-Teens. This club also competed in a basketball tournament with the Hi-Y clubs of other schools.

The club programs included French games and puzzles, talks "en francais," and a Christmas party, portraying "Noel" as it is celebrated in France.

French Club I

French I Club is one of the many newly formed organizations here at Walnut Hills. Its members are composed of only first year French students interested in gaining proficiency in all aspects of the language. Their meetings were held jointly with the advanced French Club this year and both have been very successful.

Future Nurses of America

At its monthly meetings, the Future Nurses Club has had speakers and movies on various phases of medicine. Some of these have been: Dietetics, Physical Therapy, and nursing fields. The members also toured the Children's Convalescent Hospital and Jewish Hospital. Several members do volunteer work as nurses' aides or assistants in clinics and hospitals.

Chemistry Club

Chemistry Club holds meetings once a month which are open to all students. Under the direction of a planning committee arrangements are made for speakers to come in, or demonstrations to be given. These programs usually present an aspect of Chemistry not included in the regular course of study.

Future Teachers of America

During its second year as a chapter of the nation-wide organization, the Future Teachers of America Club doubled its membership, as well as instituting a new substitute teaching program. Under this program, club members actually directed and taught classes. F.T.A. also maintained an active tutoring program and toured the U. C. Teachers' College.

Camera Club

This year the Camera Club, under the supervision of Mr. Glenn Volz, centered its activities on the art of taking and developing pictures. Early in the year the members displayed national prize-winning photographs in school. They also visited a local photo-processing plant and took a field trip to photograph nature.

Rocket Club

A new club to Walnut Hills this year is the Rocket Club. Led by president Ray Rosenbaum and advised by Mr. Richard Bourn, the club tries to stimulate interest in the principles of rocketry and missiles. Discussions, lectures, reports, and the building of model rockets highlighted the year's various activities.

Tropical Fish Club

Ten interested ichteologists make up the Tropical Fish Club. The main goal of the club is to interest non-members in fish and their habits. The actives have participated in the group meetings for nearly two years. During this time they have profited from both the discussions and the programs presented.

Fencing Club

This year there was much more interest in the Fencing Club than ever in the past. Members were taught the French style of fencing. In the meetings every Friday afternoons, intra-club matches were held. Intra-School matches may be started in the future. The Fencing Club is a new and welcome addition to Walnut Hills.

Youth for Christ

The Youth for Christ Club, meeting twice a month, is presided over by Marleen Jenkins and advised by Mrs. Buchanan. The song service and the reading of passages from the Bible provides an opportunity for everyone to participate and release tension. The city-wide organization meets monthly and publishes a newspaper.

Inter Fratority Council

Interfratority Council is an organization made up of the highest officers of each social club who attends Walnut Hills. All seventeen clubs are represented. Council meets once each month, during school time.

Interfratority Council is a medium between the administration and the clubs. It coordinates the activities of the various social clubs and promotes better feeling among them.

Council is a member of the Inter School Sponsor's Organization, which acts as a coordinating body for all the social clubs in our city.

Council has certain rules for the rushing, pledging, and initiation of new members who are joining social clubs. Any problems about rushing and pledging are discussed by the Council, and violators of laws are brought in and questioned.

This year Council helped the Booster's Club to raise money for Band uniforms. In the spring, there was an annual Interfratority Sing where a prize was given for the best acts. Interfratority Council is the backbone of our social clubs.

Altruist

The Altruist social club is made up of girls devoted to their families, friends, and community. This year the club, consisting of 38 active members, has participated in various activities. Altruist started off the year with a Halloween party and then proceeded into the rushing season. In December, with its 15 new pledges, Altruist held a Chistmas party and a winter formal. A date party in February and a stag in March were added to the calendar. Completing the year traditionally, Altruist gave a Spring Formal with Gamma Kappa sorority. This group of girls does not just get together for fun, but also lends a helping hand to the underprivileged through its many philanthropic projects. This year projects have included trips to the Norwood Day Care Center, and to the Home for the Blind, and the annual picnic given for a group of orphans. Through various projects Altruist sorority hopes to develop the character of each girl and to keep alive the true spirit of Altruist.

Chi Sigma Delta

Chi Sigma Delta sorority was formed in 1932 by seven girls. The club is based on the principles of charity for others and loyalty to its sisters. To further and to fulfill the first of these ideas, Chi Sig sponsors "Miss Sorority, Mr. Fraternity," a charity dance where each fraternity and sorority is given a chance to represent a charity and be crowned "Miss Sorority" or "Mr. Fraternity." At the open house, the money for charity is collected in separate sorority boxes. This money is then divided proportionally according to the winners of the dance, and sent to the respective charities in the name of the individual social club.

In reference to loyalty of its sisters, Chi Sigs give a number of stags, formals, and parties each year where the girls have fun together. There are also rummage sales and bake sales where they work together. The girls also work hard to support their candidates for the big dances of the year with posters, throwouts ,and open houses.

Gamma Kappa

"Friendship, loyalty and good sportsmanship" could well be considered the motto of Gamma Kappa. It was formed under the national association of high school girls' clubs known as Sigma Omega Phi. However, as the years passed, the Cincinnati chapter decided to continue as an independent group and assumed the title of Gamma Kappa

A main goal of their organization is to carry on an active philanthropic program, voluntarily donating the service of each member to worthwhile projects. A part of their program is supporting a French war orphan. A second objective of Gamma Kappa is to form a social outlet for its members, both providing a number of annual affairs and supporting functions of other clubs. In 1955 Gamma Kappa joined with Phi Epsilon to present the Mardi Gras, an open candidate dance.

An active member of Walnut Hills' Interfratority Council, Gamma Kappa has participated in the Interfratority Sing.

Gamma Kappa has indeed carried out to the fullest her responsibilities, goals, and ideals.

Iota Sigma Chi

Iota Sigma Chi, formally known as "Iveyettes" was started in 1940 by Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. The name "Ivyettes" came from the ivy leaf, the symbol of AKA; and Iota Sigma Chi are the first three Greek letters in AKA's laws. The purpose of the club was to promote friendship, respect, and responsibility and to also give the daughters of the members an early experience in sorority life. The first club consisted of 20 girls who were supervised strictly on parliamentary procedure and rules of the mother sorority.

The many philanthropical activities include caroling at Hamilton County Home, giving a Thanksgiving Basket to a needy family, and giving a Christmas Party at Allen House. The "Ivyettes" also give their annual Mr. and Miss Ivy Dance.

Omega Sigma Phi

Seated: Sue Herzig, Lois Silverman, Carol Klayman. Standing: Nancy Vockell, Rona Canner, president; Delores Mutchnik.

Omega Sigma Phi Social Club was founded seventeen years ago, in 1940, at Western Hills High School. Since that time the chapter has moved to Walnut Hills. The sorority colors are red and white and its symbol is the bunny. Three times a year Omega puts out a newspaper which is about the activities of the sorority which is called the Omejahs. The two big affairs during the year are the Winter Dinner Dance and the July Boat Ride.

The purpose of Omega, aside from existing as a social organization is to do philanthropic work. In the fall, the girls solicit for the heart fund by selling the special newspapers, printed for the day. In the spring, at Easter time, the girls make dolls for the children of an orphanage. All during the year the girls do volunteer work at the Jewish Hospital. Omega is a part of interfratority council and participates actively in all the activities that the council and the school undertake.

Philotas

Philotas is a sorority consisting of thirty-three girls. The Greek name is Pi Kappa Epsilon, which is shown by the letters DKE. The name Philotas means friendship. The purpose of the organization is to accomplish certain worthwhile tasks which cannot be fulfilled individually, but which the club as a whole is able to perform. The group undertakes at least one philanthropic project each semester.

Another aim of Philotas is to provide close contact between girls who wish to enjoy, as a part of a group, the various club activities. Traditionally Philotas gives two formal dances each year. The first of these takes place during the Christmas holidays and the other in the spring. It is also traditional to install the sorority's new officers at midnight on the night of the spring formal. Philotas holds several date parties annually and many functions for its members only.

The Missing Link is a publication of DKE, put out every spring by the juniors. The paper consists of sketches characterizing the seniors and sophomores.

Sigma Theta Pi

Sigma Theta Pi sorority was founded December 8, 1908, in St. Joseph, Missouri. The sorority now consists of 16 chapters which are located throughout the United States and Canada. The Cincinnati chapter of Sigma Theta Pi was established in 1919.

The object of STP is to aid the unfortunate and needy. Each year the group participates in the various fund-raising campaigns, especially for the Cerebral Palsy Home. The principle philanthropic project of Sigma Theta Pi, Delta chapter, is acting as foster parents, along with the other fifteen chapters of STP, to two children in Europe, who are in dire need of help.

STP is active socially also. These activities include the presentation of a large open dance, the Presidential Ball (with Phi Rho Delta); the STP-BOA Post-Revue Dance after the Walnuts production; a winter formal; and a spring affair.

Altogether Sigma Theta Pi sorority is a group of closely-knit girls working in a unified effort for the betterment and improvement of their community.

Tau Delta Tau

Friendship, good sportsmanship, and unity are the ideals which the Tau Delts wish to reach and retain. The addition of 15 pledges this year raised the membership to 27 active members. A Christmas Formal, given with Altruist and Philotas, and a Spring Formal are the highlights of the school year. A hay ride in the fall, several slumber parties, a picnic and three mother-daughter teas complete the social activities.

The second annual Basketball Tournament, sponsored by Interfratority Council was won by Tau Delta Tau for the second straight year. Although the Baseball Tournament and Interfratority Sing were participated in, the Tau Delts could not win the trophies.

Philanthropic projects are one of the main activities of Tau Delta Tau. Monthly trips were made to Longview, Children's Convalescent Home, and the Heart Fund Association. From March until June members were sent every week to the Heart Mart to give their assistance. Through philanthropic work, character is hoped to be developed in each and every girl.

Alpha Delta Kappa

Seated: Joe Lyle, John Gaines, Bill Obenshain, president; Jon Larrick, Jack Thompson. Standing: Dick Tuttle.

Alpha Delta Kappa regards itself as a fraternity rather than a social club; a fraternity standing for and based upon one principal—Brotherhood. Our main purpose is to create and promote a close fellowship among the members resulting in a strong bond of loyalty, memorable companionship, lasting friendship, and pride of belonging. This kind of brotherly relationship is due to the fact the members are much alike in their manner and beliefs. The fraternity feels that a sincere person makes a good fraternity brother and a good A.D.K. Others must agree with and like this type of association of boys for in the last three years A.D.K. has quadrupled its membership. We have a high spirit of "stick-togetherness" as a group. But, we, also, never lose sight of the individual with his own interests and friends. Perhaps, that's the reason for the diversified membership; some are athletes, some have dramatics or cars as interests; some are in the band or like military and so it goes. This makes for a well-rounded group and individual, not a one-sided affair. An A.D.K. member from this sort of union wears his pin proudly.

Beta Omicron Alpha

BOA, Walnut Hills third oldest fraternity, was founded in 1916. During the period when fraternities were banned, BOA received a charter from the state. This made it one of the few legal social clubs. BOA also has a chapter composed of boys from the Country Day and Indian Hills schools. Until two years ago there was only one chapter, but for convenience the group split. The club gives one closed date party a month, the most elaborate of these being the New Year's Eve Party and the Final Swimming Party. The club is also the co-sponsor of the Post-Review Dance. They have been giving this dance for eight years now. BOA also has one stag, usually closed, every two months. During the school year the BOA club participates in four philanthropic projects. On these projects the club works at the Chilrden's Convalescent Home. The BOA fraternity stresses athletics and a strong feeling of brotherhood.

Delta Beta

Under the leadership of Bob Young, Delta Beta has just completed a very active year. In addition to our numerous parties and stags, we have participated in philanthropic work. Victory in the basketball tournament concluded a very successful year of intrafratority competition. Many of our members have made outstanding contributions to the Eagles' intra-city athletic competition, as well as all the school's productions.

DB is the oldest Cincinnati fraternity. Following in a long established tradition, we of the Alpha chapter endeavor to "develop character, engender a fraternal spirit, promote intelligence among our members, and, in general, to exert a wholesome influence in school and community life." Included in our membership are many of the leaders in these areas. We strive to inspire leadership and promote a spirit of unselfishness among ourselves. We hope to maintain through future years the honorable traditions of our past and to continue beneficial effects of character building and friendship not only among our members, but also as far beyond our circle as our influence may reach.

Phi Epsilon

Since its formation in 1896, Phi Epsilon has lived up to its motto: "Amici asque ad aras" meaning friends to the stars. We have always had a well rounded athletic program and this year is no exception. In interfraternity sports an active participation of all the members was stressed. Phi Ep feels that this is the most important goal.

This year marks the beginning of a national fraternity. A strong chapter in Dayton has been established and Louisville and Columbus chapters are now being considered.

Phi Epsilon can readily boast of its fine philanthropic program. In honor of our departed brother, we have started and actively supported the Martin Kahn Memorial Fund. In addition we have worked in the campaign for the Goodwill Industries.

The biggest social event of the school year was the sixth annual Mardi Gras, which was held at the Sheraton Gibson Roof Gardens (with Gamma Kappa). It was agreed by all that it was very successful. To end the school year Phi Epsilon gave a sensational three day weekend.

"We sing our praises clear and loud, in one accord are we, of Phi Rho Delta we are proud and pledge our loyalty." These opening lines to the Phi Rho Delta song symbolize the spirit and unity of Phi Rho Delta Fraternity.

Phi Rho was founded in 1941 and has since grown to a membership of forty-eight. Our activities range from philanthropic work, boatrides, hayrides, stags and parties to the "Presidential Ball," one of the biggest social functions of the year. Phi Rho proudly boasts having the most active parent organization in the Walnut Hills High School Interfratority System.

"Our high ideals, a beacon light, to guide good fellowship." A Phi Rho "pledge" soon learns that entertainment is not the only reason for joining a social club, for he discovers much valuable experience in leadership and cooperation is gained by active participation in the varied events of the fraternity.

Since some members attend Woodward and St. Bernard, all members have an opportunity to cooperate with others outside the school.

Scarab

Scarab is the second oldest fraternity at Walnut Hills. This year it drafted a new and extensive constitution, and philanthropic projects were added to its functions.

It starfted out last fall with only six boys from the junior class and accepted six more at rushing in December.

Scarab has discovered many advantages in a small club not to be found among the larger clubs. First, the members are all close friends. In larger groups, members often tend to be indifferent toward each other. Secondly, it is far easier to conduct meetings and accomplish business. Huge fraternities of forty or fifty boys will hardly fit comfortably in a private residence. Thirdly, the members can take trips or call meetings and parties on short notice. With only a dozen boys to contact this is within the realm of possibility.

Scarab's date parties and stags have been successful and enjoyed by all present. The boys have worked for the Heart Fund during its campaign and participated in the Interfratority Sing.

The A Capella Choir, directed by Mrs. Nelle C. Murphy, carried on the fine tradition which it has inherited from past years. The 130 choir members, chosen from grades 10-12, were given an opportunity to develop their voices and sing for many performances, in which choir participated. Choir took part in a joint all-city choir, led by Dr. Wilson, for the convention of music teachers of Ohio. This group was made up of Choir members from the Cincinnati High Schools. At the annual Christmas Concert and Homecoming Assembly, Choir combined with Girls' Glee Club for "And the Glory of the Lord," "Hallelujah Chorus," and "For Unto Us a Child is Born," in addition to several of its own numbers. In the spring, choir performed at the First United Church in Avondale, singing a group of sacred hymns. The annual spring Concert was given by the choir, in conjunction with the whole vocal and instrumental music department of Walnut Hills. In addition to this, the choir members again combined with those from other high school choruses in Cincinnati for the festival given in honor of Dr. Claude V. Courter, the retiring superintendent of schools in Cincinnati, at the Cincinnati Gardens. Despite the pressure of its many engagements, A Capella Choir has upheld a standard of which Walnut Hills can be very proud.

Triple Trio and Octette

The Walnut Hills High School Triple Trio and Octette members are elected from the A Capella Choir by Mrs. Nelle C. Murphy. This year's schedule has included performances at the Christmas Concert, special choir assembly, and several appearances for churches, conventions, and charities.

Triple Trio is composed of nine upper school girls who blend their voices in special numbers whenever the choir appears. The Boys' Octette is a similar vocal group. Each voice part of both groups has two alternates.

Girls' Glee Club

Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Nelle C. Murphy, enriches the musical background and improves the singing ability of its members. Glee Club combined with the A Capella Choir to sing in several Christmas performances. They also sang in the Spring Concert, Glee Club, as an academic subject was included in the curriculum for the second consecutive year. Formerly it was an extra-curricular activity. It is open to any girl in grades 10-12, who shows an interest in music and enjoys singing. The group provides a chance for singing in small musical ensembles, and practice in conducting. It also offers an opportunity to perform in school musical functions.

"Walnut! Walnut! One! Two! Three!" "We are proud to present the Walnut Hills High School Band." And thus began each of our Band's football shows. Although sickness posed an unexpected problem, the Band was able to fulfill six of its seven football playing dates, as well as to play in the Annual Band Night at Trechter Stadium. Band also helped build school spirit at Pep Rallys where it was directed by President Alan Gordon.

At the end of the football season the Band began practicing for their various concert activities. Ten members received the honor of representing Walnut Hills in the new All-City Band which performed at a Music Teachers' Convention in December and a concert in the Spring.

As a unit the Band continued its drive for new uniforms with plans for an afternoon concert of generally-known and well-liked music. This was to replace the Jazz Concerts of former years. The members sold tickets to the Booster's Club Dance in the fall and received a part of the profit. Another fund-raising project was the collecting of tax stamps which succeeded in gaining a considerable sum of money. Of course there were the annual events at which Band plays—Walnuts, Spring Concert and a Band Assembly. The goal of the Band and Band Council was more and better performances.

The Walnut Hills band gives the Eagles a rousing send-off.

Again this year the Walnut Hills High School Orchestra upheld its longstanding position as one of the better orchestras of the city. The Orchestra met during the sixth period each day. Membership was open to any tenth, eleventh, or twelfth grade student. The Orchestra contained all stringed instruments. Its governing body was the Orchestra Council, headed by Sally Casto, and the other elected officers of the organization were Alex Philips, vice-president; Mary Lou Reul, Secretary; Steve Engle, treasurer, and Dan Freiberg and Janet Keyes, librarians. Mr. Gasbarro, the director of the Orchestra, was also the Orchestra Council's advisor. Among the duties that occupied this year's Orchestra was the complete renewing of the music that they used. One of its activities was the participation by a large percentage of its members in the All City High School Orchestra. This group, which met weekly on Wednesday nights, brought together the best members of the orchestras in the high schools of the city. The All City Orchestra presented two concerts. They performed for the Southern Ohio Music Teachers Convention, which met here on December 2, 1957. In our own school, the Orchestra played an important part in the Walnuts of '58. They also took part in the annual Spring Concert. Finally, finishing an extremely successful year, the Orchestra took part in the annual Graduation Day Ceremonies.

Twelfth Night

The twins (Joy Becker and Jay Stoner) are reunited and live "happily ever after."

The sea captain (Evan Bukey) is held spellbound by Viola's tale of shipwreck.

Friday, December 6 and Saturday, December 7, were celebrated dates in this past school year. Under the very competent direction of Mr. Wayne Gregory, the senior class presented Shakespeare's Twelfth Night. The production was delightfully amusing. The boisterous Sir Toby Belch, played by Artie Richards, Air Andrew Aguecheck, portrayed by Bob Allen, and Maria, played by Judy Waxman, will always be remembered for the riotous "drunk" scene. In the course of the play there were actual duel scenes which were every bit as accurate as a Hollywood movie. Throughout the play there was authentic Elizabethan music. The excellent and very realistic scenery designed by Mr. Glenn Volz was another factor in making the entire production a big success. The stage crews also contributed to the success of the play. Another interesting feature which distinguished this year's Senior Play was the fact that the curtain never closed during the entire performance. The change of scenes was indicated by the court jester who rotated placards. All the Twelfth Night players were costumed very appropriately in authentic Elizabethan costumes. After many long rehearsals and patient learning of lines, the senior players presented a truly excellent performance of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night. All the added attractions greatly helped to make the play an outstanding success and one of the finest performances of Shakespeare there has ever been at Walnut Hills.

Onlookers appear amused at conversation between Lady Viola (Joy Becker) and Duke Orsino (Roger Wolf).

The half-witted Malvolio displays his finery to friends.

Much against his will, Sir Andrew (Bob Allen) prepares to fight.

Doubletake leads to mistake.

Lady Olivia remains unmoved by Duke Orsino's passionate proposal.

Olivia (Chusti Bierhorst) sees Malvolio (Larry Fenton) in all his glory.

Chris Knoop and Jadeen Barber, as George and Emily in "Our Town" discuss their future.

The choir practices for the coming wedding in the town.

A rehearsal for the wedding takes place.

Junior Class Play

Sandy Steman, the father, discusses the wedding with George.

For their 1958 presentation, the Junior Class chose Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, Our Town. This play uses no extensive scenery and at all times presents an almost bare stage. The curtain is not pulled from opening to closing, and the audience is left to be its own scenic designer. The Stage Manager holds the play together and in his easy, informal manner, introduces the characters and sets the scene. The story is one of every-day life in Grovers Corners, New Hampshire, at the turn of the century.

Our Town, a work of the Contemporary American writer, is probably the most unusual, and yet one of the most lovable of all plays. As the audience participated in the lives of these everyday Americans, "their growing up, living, and dying," and as the cast portrayed them, one realized that these simple lines of Wilder, about people living in 1900, will always be remembered. They apply to the lives of all of us today, no matter what Our Town may be.

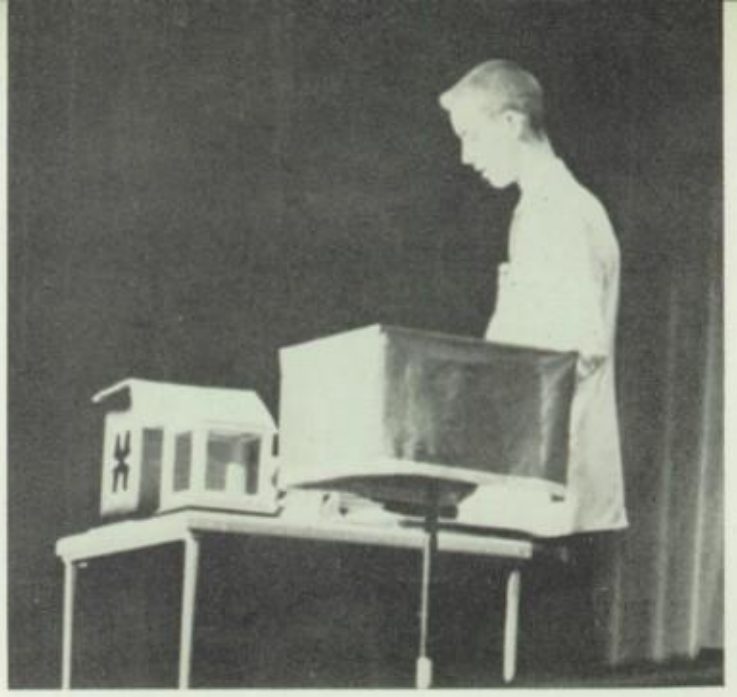
Amy Munich, as Emily's mother, explains to Emily when she worries over her social life.

Phil Helburn, as the undertaker shows Emily's mother the graveyard, as the people around symbolize graves.

Woody Lockhart has the anthropological development of "Our Town" by John Rittershofer, the professor.

Peanuts of 1957

As the curtain rose on the "fabulous" Peanuts of '57, the results of eight months of hard work by the junior class were put forth. Under the leadership of co-directors, Martha Braham and Alan Gordon, and class adviser, Mr. Knab, the Peanuts offered opportunities to any junior who wanted to participate. The continuity concerned the adventures and misadventures of a hillbilly family from Kentucky, the Earps, who flew in a balloon from the county fair to New York City. Becoming rowdy, the whole family ended up in jail. They were set free by Toby, the robot, which had been built by the little boy of the family. Toby, a novelty feature of the production, was actually built by a member of the junior class. "Heigh Ho, Come to the Fair," "Give My Regards to Broadway," and the effective "Blue Moon" were among the numbers offered by the Singing Chorus. The ponies, besides appearing in the jail scene in the traditional combination with Boys' Singing Chorus, kicked their way through the whole production. The "Horse" Chorus showed off at its best the dancing talent of the most graceful junior boys. In addition to accompanying the various numbers, the band played several solos. Vocal and instrumental solos were the musical specialties given, while several dance and novelty numbers, including a magician act, also entertained the audience. The cast party, held the night of the second performance, brought to a close the many days of planning, meetings, and rehearsals, which had greatly strengthened the unity and spirit of the Class of '59. The class song, "Once in a While," expressed the sentiments of the class perfectly . . . "We know that we'll often think of our school high upon this hill; but also we always will remember our show."



Dave Berger baffles the audience with magic act.

Nancy French and Sally Rogers twirl in the "Peanuts of '58".

Barbara Breden vocalizes to "Hey There."

Toby, the robot hero, steals. the show.

Precision chorus gives a dazzling dancing exhibition.

Earp family makes its first appearance.

Atmosphere is set as the chorus sings "Blue Moon".

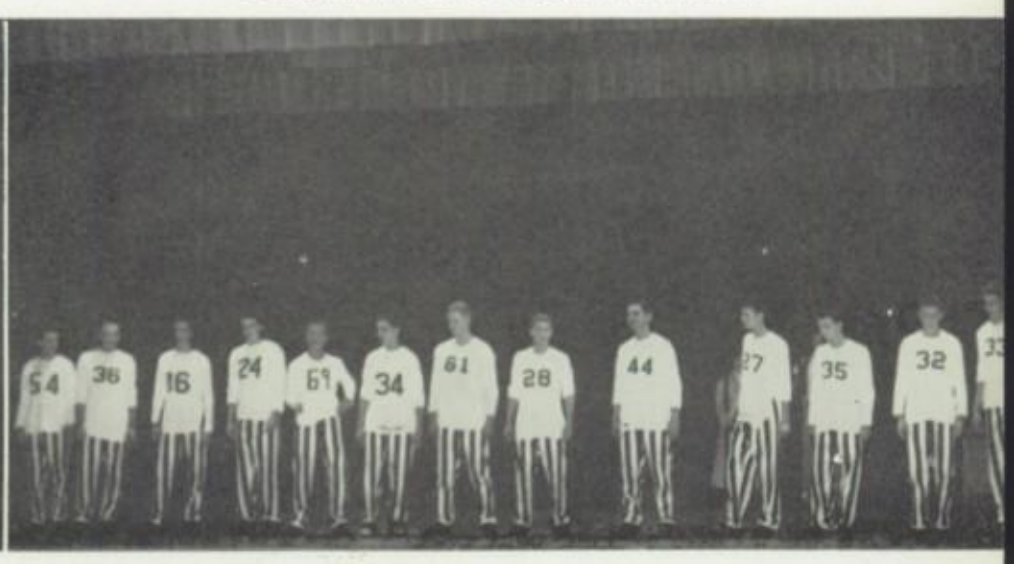
Sue Pack serves the Earp family in the tavern.

Steve Gordon enlivens the tavern.

Confused chorus of arms and legs dance to the tune of
"Oh You Beautiful Doll"

Cast gathers at the end of the "best Peanuts ever."

Convicts await arrival of ponies in jail scene.



Walnuts

"Country Style" sets the scene for The Barn Dance.

On March 28, the curtain went up for another successful Walnuts production. This year's show, the Walnuts of '58, had the unusual continuity, "The Battle at Bonefeather Bend." The comedy was produced through the ridiculous personalities of the characters and the situations in which they found themselves. This play took place near the border of Scotland and England. The plot involved a British charm school for wealthy young ladies and a boys' preparatory school, less than a mile away. It was centered around the girls' efforts to present a variety show instead of their traditional recital.

No Walnuts production would be complete without a pony chorus. This year's ponies pranced onto the stage with "June Is Bursting Out All Over" and performed such numbers as "Spanish Dance" and "My One and Only Highland Fling." The ponies joined Singing Chorus in "A Country Dance."

Singing Chorus also lent their talents to such numbers as "Country Style," "Hi Neighbor," "Dancing in the Dark," and "Lady of Spain." The boys' chorus sang their way through "I Could Have Danced All Night", "There Is Nothing Like a Dame," and "Oh You Beautiful Doll."

Every Walnuts production is made even more enjoyable by its specialty acts. This year's performance included such specialties as a singing sextet, solos, vocal and piano, an orchestral specialty, a comedy ballet and guitar solo.

This year the Walnuts was directed by Mr. Wayne Gregory with the help of musical director, Mrs. Nelle C. Murphy. Miss Marian La Cour was an invaluable aid with the pony chorus and the dance specialties. These directors helped greatly to give the cast spirit and perfection which made the Walnuts of '58 "the best ever."

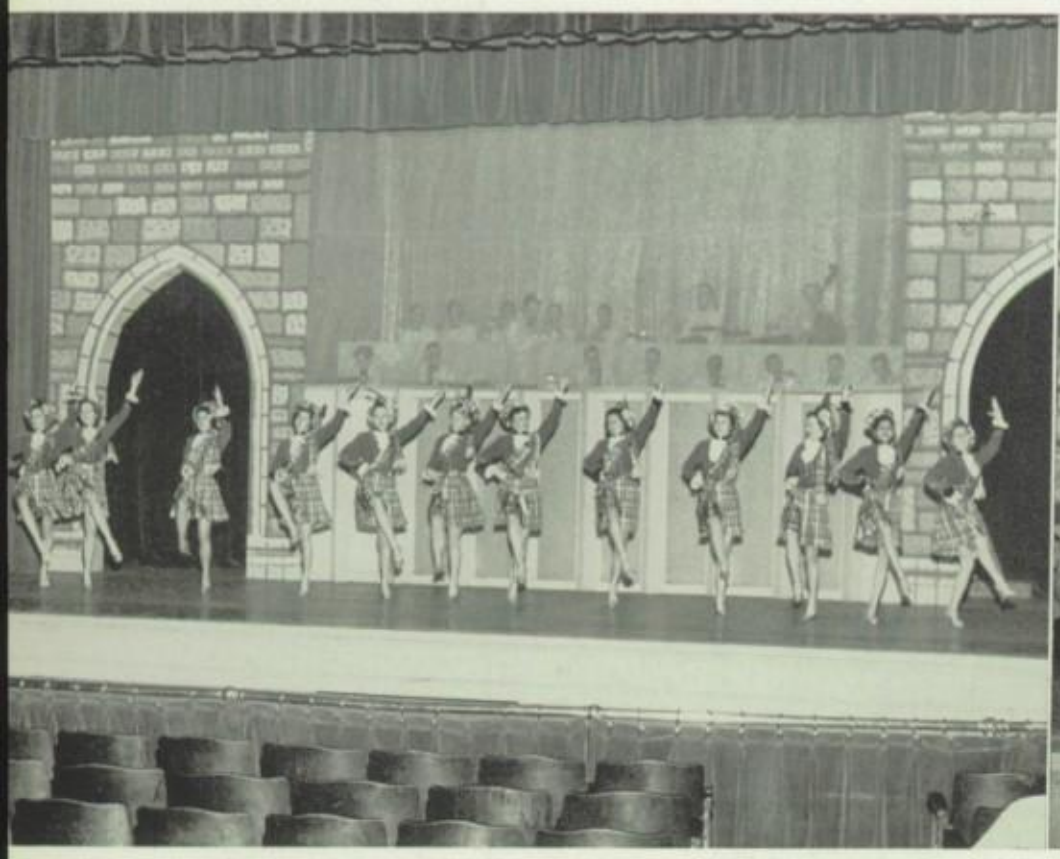
"Blow Gabriel, Blow" is performed by Julie Herron, Kathy Butler and Carol Fossett.

Ira Lott plays a medley of Scotch tunes for the students at their party.

Walnuts Precision Chorus kicks to the Tune of "My One and Only Highland Fling."



Sir Malcolm MacPherson explains his plan to Lady Bonefeather.

Judy Waxman, Lois Felson, Caroline Muster, Elaine Youkilis, Joyce Richards, and Ann Fry open the first scene with "No Other Love."

Walnuts Singing Chorus poses before opening the show.

Drex Lawson accompanies herself on the guitar.

Sol Tropical is the setting for Lynn Fairfax as her feet beat out a rhythm.

Facial expressions portray the ponies' dislike to dancing for Lady Bonefeather.

The changing of the guards is well done by the military drill team.

Judy Waxman sings "I Could Have Danced All Night."

Caroline Muster and Mark Mursam play in a duet while ballet chorus dances.

Buttons and bows are the latest thing for Sue Goeddel and John Shuff.

Stage Crew

Responsible for setting the stage for all Walnut Hills productions are the stage and light crews. The members of the stage crew devote their after school time to the building and tearing down of the sets used to put the final touch to our plays and reviews. In addition to building the sets the stage crew also handles them during the production, moving them swiftly and quietly. The light crew is in charge of all electrical details, including the operation of the spotlights and movie projectors, in addition to handling the audio controls. Under the supervision of Mr. Glenn Volz, the "behind the scenes" crews contribute greatly to the final outcome of every play and assembly given at school.

Lighting Crew

One of the groups which rendered a great service to Walnut Hills but received little credit was the lighting crew. This group composed of eight students had Mr. Voltz as its advisor. The crew ran all movies at assemblies, had control of the switchboard, set up and worked the lights in the auditorium, and had control of the P.A. system. Along with these functions, it was the crew's duty to produce any special effects that were needed by any school production.

Cheerleaders and Majorettes

The Senior High Cheerleaders were chosen by Student Council and faculty this year. The eleventh and twelfth grade cheerleaders lead cheers for the varsity teams, while the sophomore cheerleaders encouraged the reserve team. A cheerleader's main duty is to lead the crowd in cheers and stir up enthusiasm for our teams. One project accomplished this year was the purchase of new megaphones. They were decorated by the senior cheerleaders themselves. The cheerleaders also lead the pep rallies before games, teaching new cheers and reviewing old ones.

The five regular and five alternates who make up the junior high cheerleaders were chosen by the senior cheerleaders. They strive to make more students attend junior high games and participate in them by cheering.

The Walnut Hills majorettes have just completed one of their most successful years. They have now perfected the feat of twirling fire batons, and are especially well known for it. Many rehearsals with the band taught them the precision and many skillful routines. These talents they exhibited in performing at football games with the Walnut Hills Band.

The Junior High

Concentrated effort was directed this year toward the organization and expansion of an effective lower school program of extra-curricular activities. The wide scope of after school activities proved to be worthwhile, for the various clubs were enthusiastically supported by the majority of seventh, eighth, and ninth graders. In the music field, Junior Band, Junior Orchestra, and Junior Chorus presented opportunities to junior high pupils. G.A.A. and the boys' intramural program were perhaps the most popular of all among the lower schoolers. Many boys and girls were also active participants in such organizations as Junior Y-Teens, Junior Dramatics Club, and the Junior Latin Club.

JR. STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

P. Cowen, president; T. Bettman, vice-president; J. Lingle, secretary; S. Katona, treasurer.

Serving as the president of Junior Student Council, Peggy Cowen capably carried out her duties. Her remaining spare time was spent participating in Junior Y-Teens, Junior Red Cross, Senior Latin Club, and her youth group.

The vice-president of Junior Student Council was Tom Bettman. Unfortunately, due to a broken neck, he was unable to participate in any other extra-curricular activities.

Popular Steve Katona served as clerk. He was active in lower school football and basketball teams and in his religious youth group.

E-flat Jack Lingle was the treasurer. He went out for swimming and was captain of his intramural basketball team.

Peggy Cowen presides at a Junior Student Council meeting

Forty capable seventh, eighth, and ninth graders make up this year's Jr. Student Council. The aims of Jr. Student Council are these: first, to help make the Junior High School better; second, to represent the Jr. High; third, to prepare lower school students for Sr. High School; and fourth, to carry out any suggestions made to help better the school and the pupils.

Jr. Student Council is a part of Sr. Council, established to more fully represent the Jr. High. This year, under the advisement of Mrs. Catalin and Miss Logan, the Jr. Student Council held a successful bake sale, sold book covers, executed athletic study halls for a semester, and took part in the Inter-city meeting. They have plans for a clean-up campaign in the near future.

To more easily accomplish these goals Jr. Council is divided into seven committees. These committees are in charge of activities, public relations, social functions, pins, house and grounds, the constitution, and elections. The chairmen of these groups meet on alternating weeks of the regular meetings to plan the agenda of the following week. This year Jr. Student Council has been skillfully led by president Peg Cowan. With her guidance and the cooperation of the members, advisors, and the student body, we can proudly boast of our Jr. Student Council.

Junior Band

Junior Band, consisting of about 70 seventh, eighth and ninth graders, is the stepping stone between the beginning instrumental classes and Senior Band. In preparation for the higher group, these students master many tunes and marches needed later on. A few are chosen as Band Managers for Senior Band. Divided into two groups, each class meets for two and a half periods a week. Each group has a president, a librarian and a secretary. Directed by Mr. Gasbarro, they usually play in a Junior High assembly each year and sometimes get a chance to perform in the Walnuts.

Under the training and supervision of Mr. Welsh twenty boys operate the school's Visual Aids, such as projectors, record players, and amplifiers. The duties of these boys are to operate the projectors for teachers, to maintain the P.A. system, and to provide audio equipment for social activities and meetings at school.

Scenery Painters

What would the dramatics department be without the scenery painters? These unsung heroes and heroines add the realistic touch that brings to life the imaginary world of the stage. This year's scenery painters did the scenery for Peanuts of 1958, Twelfth Night, Walnuts, and Our Town.

Junior Chorus

Under the direction of Mrs. Merrill Krainess, Jr. Chorus, which met on alternate Mondays and Tuesdays, undertook a full schedule. The chorus, made up of seventh graders, participated in the Christmas and Spring Concerts at Walnut Hills. In addition, its members joined with the other junior high choirs of Cincinnati to present the music festival at the Cincinnati Gardens in May, in honor of Dr. Claude V. Courter.

Junior Y-Teens

Ably advised by Miss Patricia Socrates, junior high girls have an excellent opportunity to serve their school and community through Jr. Y-Teens. The squads, which do most of the work, visit children's homes and Longview to entertain the occupants. They also suport Sr. Y-Teens in their Annual Potato Chip Sale. Jr. Y-Teens' projects provide the members with much understanding and their experiences are always a lot of fun.

Junior Latin Club

Highlighting the year for Junior Latin Club members was a Saternalia at Christmas time, which consisted of many exhibits. The club also offered a fashion show. Amusing and informative games were played at some meetings, while movies were shown at others. Under the supervision of Mrs. Buchanan and Miss Gerwig, the Junior Latin Club helps prepare lower school students for the wonderful program of the Senior Latin Club.

Chess Club

The game of Chess, which began in India thirteen hundred years ago, is singular in that it is one of the most difficult games in existence and requires a good deal of intelligent, comprehensive thought to play. The Chess Club at Walnut Hills strives to promote interest in this ancient game, to teach beginners the fundamental rules, and to give all its members a chance to become proficient players.

Sports

Sports, not only means participating in athletic events, but also means spending many thrilling hours as a spectator in the stands and cheering on your favorite team to victory. This year the Walnuts Hills sports program was designed to meet the desires of all. The many junior-high, reserve, varsity, and girls' teams provided fun and entertainment for both the participants and spectators. The many individual and team sports aroused great interest, but Walnut Hills was unable to capture a first place in the Public High School League.

Sports help develop the body and make those who participate healthy and physically fit individuals. Athletic activities also require mental alertness and teamwork. Participants in team sports learn that the individual must often subordinate his own wishes for the good of the team.

Although this year will not be remembered as the year that Walnut Hills dominated various Public High School Leagues, its strenuous sports program helped to develop a spirit of cooperation, an attitude of good sportsmanship, and a sense of togetherness.

Varsity Football

From the first day of summer practice the Eagle football players felt that with plenty of hard work, they could win the P.H.S.L. Championship and emerge with a very successful season. It seemed as if their prophecy could come true as in the first game they trounced Monroe 46-0. After this victory Reading fell victim to the Eagle grid machine 52-13. Following this game the blue and gold conquered Norwood 39-13.

The fired up Eagles were then ready to tackle their first P.H.S.L. opponent, Central. Unfortunately the Asian flu struck and caused the defeats against Central and West-Hi. At full strength again the Eagles rolled over Withrow 20-13. Over-confidence and a defeatist attitude were responsible for the losses against Woodward and Taft. Walnut Hills in between time had to defeat Hughes 25-13. Rounding out a successful season, the Eagles mauled the Greenhills' Pioneers 46-0.

Reserve Football

This year the Walnut Hills Reserve football team, made up of sophomores and juniors, won the P.H.S.L. Championship. Coached by Lloyd Bailey, the Reserves' spirited and experienced offense and defense defeated Hughes and Central but there was rough going in beating their four other opponents, Withrow, Western Hills, Woodward and Taft. However, the main objective of the reserve team, is to train the sophomores and juniors for next year's varsity squad. Scrimmages were held between the varsity and reserve squads to give them practice, experience and skill in this rugged sport. The Reserves also scrimmaged against the freshman squad merely for practice and to give the freshmen experience against a larger team. The Reserve team put forth a tremendous effort to capture the championship and will carry Walnut Hills to future victorious seasons.

With a host of outstanding football players and with Bill Lunsford as coach, the Walnut Hills Junior High team compiled a record of three wins, two losses and one tie for the season. This record placed the boys third in the P.H.S.L. standing for the year. The highlight of the season was a scoreless tie with the Samuel Ach team which went on to become the champs of the league. The main objective of the junior high team according to Coach Lunsford, who trained and gave the boys experience, is playing football so that they may play a better game under reserve and varsity teams.

The Eagle cagers despite an almost continuous strain of heartbreaking losses and serious injuries, compiled an 11-11 record, one truly not exemplary of their play. Mediocre in the P.H.S.L. with a 4-8 mark, the "Fighting Eagles" surprised everyone by their outstanding performance in the District Tourney. After downing McNicholas, Harrison, and fourth-seeded Wyoming, the squad finally bowed to talented Taft by a lone point in the quarterfinals. Another highlight of the season was the Christmas Tourney which the Eagles captured by downing previously undefeated Sycamore and McNicholas. The nucleus for the team, composed of seniors Goldberg Heekin, Levin, and Schuff, all of whom averaged in double figures, will be lost through graduation.

Reserve Basketball

The reserve basketball team had an extremely successful season, highlighted by the capturing of the P.H.S.L. championship. Scoring honors went to guard Larry Schneider with the single game high of twenty-nine and the top average per game. He was closely followed in this department by Dick Uible and Scott Brown, while Hugh Dalton led in rebounding.

The team's league leading total included double wins over Withrow, Hughes, Western, and Woodward, and a single win over Taft, against two losses to Central and one to Taft; for a nine and three record. Wins over Norwood, Purcell, and Anderson against losses to Elder and St. Xavier brought the season's score to twelve wins and five losses. This excellent record was due to a fine team effort and strong desire instilled by Coach Bailey.

Cross Country

This year under the leadership of a new coach, William Meredith, and co-captains, Jim Drew and Lew Elsey, the cross meet can be largely accredited to the much improved run-country team competed in the state meet for the fourth con-secutive year. The hard-running eagle harriers gained this berth after capturing third place in both the P.H.S.L. and the Southwest Ohio District. The team's success in the District Meet can be largely accredited to the much improved running of Lew Elsey and Bill Obenshain, who finished fifth and eighth respectively. Despite several cases of the Asian "flu," the team's spirit and enthusiasm were always high under the ever-ready guidance of Coach Meredith. The prospects for next year are very good with a nucleus being formed by soph-omores Bart Rapp and Rick Knauft and junior Tom Roy.

Track

This year the hapless track team failed to win a single meet. Much of the misfortune was due to lack of depth and serious injuries to leading stars. Larry Cox who ran the 100 yard dash in 10.1 was unable to compete this year because of bruises in his feet. This year the top timing in the P.H.S.L. was 10.2. Clay Atkins, another top star runner, was also put out of competition because of injuries.

In the Southwestern Ohio district track meet, the luckless Eagles failed once more to win a meet. They could do no better than a twelfth place finish. It was a meet in which the track men collected 5 2/9 points. This small number of points was the total effort of two boys, Clarence Lowe and Joe Simpson. Clarence ran the 120 high hurdle and 180 low hurdle, and also participated in the high jump. Clarence Lowe was the only boy on the Eagles track squad to go upstate. This year will be remembered as a year when unfortunate injuries to potential winners caused the Eagles' track team to lose many hoped for victories.

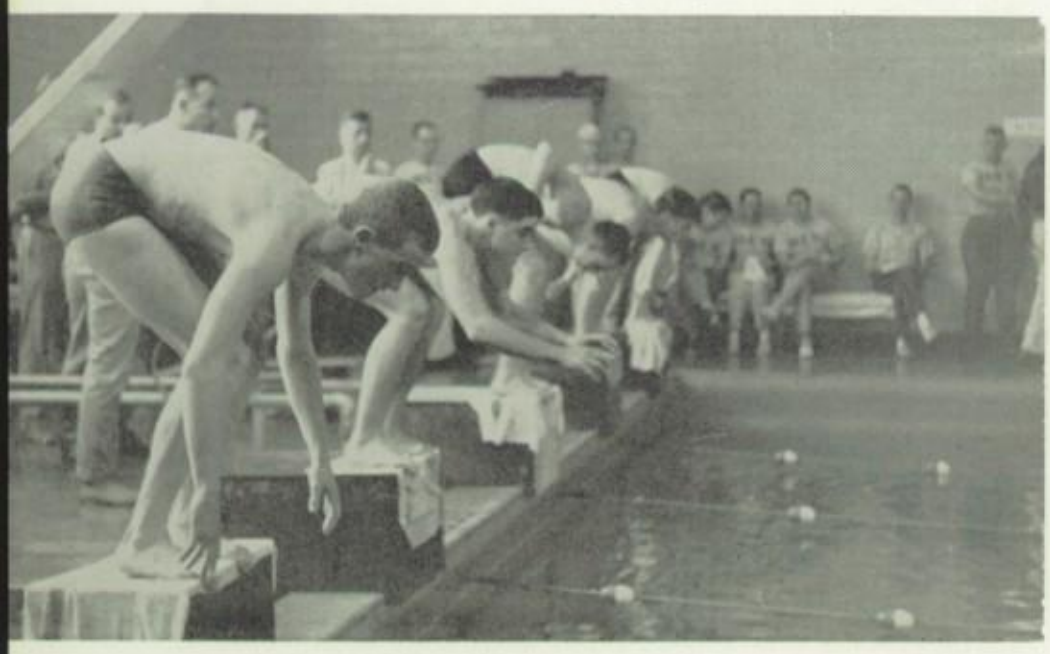
Swimming action shows Lew Elsey ready for start in District Meet



This year's Walnut Hills swimming team, with eight lettermen returning, looked like the team to beat after winning the annual Central Relays late in December. However this year's team, captained by Bill Howard and Mike Kendall, was destined to suffer the worst season of any team since Mr. Davis began coaching at Walnut Hills fourteen years ago. Although this would indicate a poor record, the team won the Central Relays, placed second in the P.H.S.L. and tied for third with St. Xavier in the District Championship.

In winning the Central Relays the Walnut Hills swimmers set records in the 200-yard butterfly relay and the 200-yard breaststroke relay while the 400-yard freestyle relay team broke the existing record in finishing third.

Walnut Hills finished second twice and third once by losing to Western Hills in the three pre-league meets. Western Hills subdued the Eagles' swimming team in the three league meets as they ran away with the title. The Walnut Hills swimmers were able to finish second due to finishing the runner-up in two meets and fourth in the last meet. Bill Howard in the butterfly, Bob Pendergrass in the breaststroke, and the two relays were the mainstays in the Eagle Finish.

For the first time in over a decade, the Walnut Hills swimming team was not able to capture a trophy in the District Championships. Western Hills and Withrow finished first and second respectively as St. Xavier and Walnut Hills tied for third. Thirteen Walnut Hills swimmers qualified in the District meet for the State Championships in Columbus. The State Championships were disappointing as Walnut Hills failed to qualify anyone for the finish.

Junior High Swimming

The Walnut Hills Junior High Swimming Team concluded a rather successful season this year by finishing second to Withrow in total points for the three city swimming meets and the district meet. Sparked by undefeated freestyle relay team of Chuck Jacob, Clem Dinsmore, Jim Davis and Mike Moore, the juniors tied the first meet, won the second by three points only to lose the third by ten points. All meets were held in Central High School's pool.

This year a new event was added, a fifty yard breaststroke. In this event, Ronny Tully, Steve Skurrow, Dick Lazarus and Barry Stein swam. In other events; the fifty yard freestyle was swum by Chuck, Clem Binsmore and Jim Dais; the backstroke by Sted Garbar, who was the only one to individually score a first place, Kim Cameron, and Cliff Omart; the butterfly by Tom Slemmer, Bob Hatfield, John Steiner and Pete Rutter; the individual medley by Sted Garber, John Steiner, Bob Hatfield and John Bullerk. In diving Robby Roberts and Bill Jacobs participated. The medley relay team had Ronny Tally, Kim Cameron, Tom Slemmer or Bob Hatfield and Charles Hagner swimming.

Alan "Whitey" Davis, the Walnut Hills Swimming Coach, did his usual fine job with the team and long hours of practice showed in the team's excellent performance.

The 1958 tennis team was sparked by Roger Wolf, who, having lettered since his sophomore year, played first singles. The second position was ably manned by senior Alan Rosenberg, who also started in his sophomore grade. These two created what is probably the best one two punch in the city.

Junior Steve Felson was the third singles man and was followed by junior Marty Marks and Jon Tippett, senior, who comprised the first doubles team. John Rittenshofer and Dave Joseph, both Juniors, anchored the team at second duobles. The eighth man and number one replacement was Dave Walt, only a sophomore, who was the nucleus of what was an excellent bench. Don Simmons and Kirk Lea rounded out the team.

The Eagle Varsity Baseball Team began its season with high hopes but was soon dismayed to find that both league and non-league opposition was much tougher than expected. Coached by Lloyd Bailey, there were six returning lettermen. This year, unlike past years, the Eagles got good performance from their mound staff but their hitting left much to be desired.

Bright spots on the pitching staff were Dave Schiering, Scott Brown, and Tom Schaber. Leading the hitting was Tom Dine and Gil Rieger, while Jerry Grounse and Jerry Fine did very well in fielding. Though they only won one game, the Eagles never stopped trying. Bright spot of the season was a 6-4 win over the traditional rivals, the Woodward Bulldogs. In the District Tournament, the Eagles were eliminated in the first game, losing a heartbreaker 1-0 to Mariemont.

This summer many of the Eagles will play together on a summer baseball team. This team, which will be coached by Mr. Bailey and sponsored by Condon's Bowling Lanes, will play in the Muni D League. May the REMEMBRANCE wish them the best of luck!

Golf Team

The Walnut Hills golf team enjoyed a successful season this year. The Eagle golfers suffered no losses in P.H.S.L. competition. The Eagles swept three of their matches and tied with Woodward, who shared the title with Walnut Hills. The only disappointment this year was the Eagles' rather poor showing in the district match in which our golfers finished sixth. The Eagle golf team was a bright spot nevertheless in the spring sports at Walnut Hills.

Bowling Team

The Walnut Hills Bowling team completed the best season ever compiled by an Eagle team, finishing in second place with a 21 won and 9 lost record. The Eagles were lead by four returning senior lettermen. Captain Jerry Prager paced the attack with a 186 average, the high average in the league. Other returnees were Co-Captain Ivan Silverman, Dick Sevier and Ron Puschmann. Seniors Doug Seimon and Harlan Henry, first year men, added the all important sixth man to keep the Eagles in contention all the way to th final game of the season.

The executive body of the Girls' Athletic Association is the G.A.A. Board. Under the leadership of Sue Kelly, the president, the other four officers and the heads of sports supervise the activities of G.A.A. At the twice-monthly meetings, class managers are chosen for the different sports and interschool playdays are set up. Intercity board meetings are held once a year.

SLC

Girls' Field Hockey

Vicki Mayfield scores a goal on Diane Starr.

Shortly after everyone has returned to school in the fall, the Girls' Athletic Association, better known as G.A.A., begins the first of its interesting list of sports—field hockey. All upper school girls learn to play this sport in their gym classes and are invited to participate on intramural teams after school. Among the hazards of hockey are fingers smashed by an opponent's stick, ankles bruised by flying balls, and skinned shins resulting from interference by a hockey stick—but it's still fun.

This year 179 girls went out for intramural hockey, forming ten teams which each played four games. From these ten teams 65 girls were selected by the class team managers to be on th class teams. Only the best players are chosen for these four teams which compete against each other, after two practices, for the class championship. The Seniors were class champions this year with the Juniors placing second.

One of the long-awaited events after each girls' sports season is playday. Hockey playday this year was at Withrow High School, where the Walnut Hills girls totaled enough points to come in second by a very close score. Forty girls in grades ten through twelve participated. At the ninth grade combined hockey and soccer playday, 89 girls participated.

Much credit for a succesfsul hockey season goes to Margaret Watts, hockey manager, Dee Larkin, Wilma Jones, Carol Watanabe and Diana Risen who were class managers, and most of all to Miss Sellers, the coach.

Soccer

A favorite fall sport played by Junior High girls is soccer. Learning this new and exciting game during gym classes, the seventh and eighth graders perfect their skill in socccer at after school G.A.A. practices. By attending two practices, the girls can earn 25 points and also be placed on one of the six intramural teams. If they go to only one practice, the points are not earned, but they can still take part in the intramural soccer. There were six team captains for this fall soccer season. The championship went to Nancy Birch's team.

One hundred forty-one girls went out for the practices and intramural teams. Of this number certain accomplished students were chosen for their respective class teams. V. Spelman was selected to be captain of the eighth grade team. The seventh grade team was led to victory by their captain, D. Starr. What a thrill it was for the seventh graders to upset the confidence and assuredness of their e-flat friends.

The interscholastic play day, held on November seventh, proved to be quite exciting and especially successful for Walnut Hills. The W.H. Junior High teams displayed ability and good sportsmanship as they finished in first place at the play day. What an exciting day for all the effie and e-flat students at Walnut Hills, for they realized that all their practice, hard work, and enthusiasm had paid off.

Volleyball

The opportunity for lower school girls to display their interest and skill in sports was given early in November, when the volleyball season began. The Girl's Athletic Association offered six volleyball practices for enthusiastic junior high pupils. Twenty-five points were earned by those who attended four of the six practices, while those who went to two or more were eligible for placement in volleyball teams. There were eight teams in the Junior High Volleyball League. Team Two was the winner, after defeating Team Six in a championship game.

A volleyball play day was scheduled with other public schools in the city. The Walnut Hills Junior High team won six and lost two and finished the season in second place.

Ping pong, or table tennis, has become a favorite girls' sport at Walnut Hills. G.A.A. members who sign up for ping pong, whether singles or doubles, have an opportunity to take part in a tournament. Winners of this tournament have the two-fold distinction of receiving a trophy and having 100 points added to their G.A.A. record.

Girls' Badminton

In the spring one of the minor sports sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association was badminton. Badminton awards were presented to the champions of both the singles and doubles tournaments at the Spring Banquet. This sport was enthusiastically supported by girls in grades nine through twelve. A G.A.A. board member, Jean Seinsheimer, directed the activity. Later the participants in badminton competed with other schools at the spring playday held at Lunken Playfield.

Girls' Swimming

Girls taking weekly swimming instructions are eligible to swim on the girls' swimming team. It is divided into upper and lower school sections. At a mass meeting all swimmers in the individual classes, headed by their managers compete. The top swimmers of each grade level are chosen for their class teams, and a class meet is held. This year the Juniors won both the mass meet and the class meet. The eighth grade took the Junior High swimming honors. The honor team, composed of the best performers in each event, then represents Walnut Hills in the city competition. This year our swimmers took second place in the city. One of our own performers, Judy White, set a new city record in the breaststroke, to add extra excitement to this event.

Girls' Life Saving

An annual activity of the girls' gym program is the Red Cross life saving course, under the instruction of Miss Sellers and Miss Hutchinson. Weekly sessions were held after school on Wednesdays. Girls who wished to advance more rapidly practiced during extra-time in their regular class periods. The first few weeks of the course is devoted to instruction on how to treat a drowning victim. The girls are then taught how to save a person by breaking the different holds which might prevent the rescuer from successfully completing her operation. After the different approaches and holds are explained, artificial respiration is taught to the girls. The members then must take the life-saving exam which includes effecting a rescue while fully clothed and passing both a written and swimming test. This year many of the energetic girls attained the goal for which they had long striven: membership to the Life Saving Association of America.

JUNIOR CLASS BASKETBALL TEAM

Kneeling: Carol Prior, Lillie Whitehead, Jean Seinsheimer, Gerry Linder, Carol Schellenberg, Wilma Jones. Standing: Brenda Russell, Elaine Betz, Jaquie Stifel, Arlette Kemper, Emma Brown.

Girls' Basketball

In mid-winter, the fast and exciting game of basketball invades girls' gym classes. The game is good exercise, and develops speed, co-ordination, and teamwork. Basketball is not only played in gym classses, but girls are also eligible for G.A.A. intramural teams, after having attended a certain number of after school practices. The best players are then chosen for class teams, and upper and lower school champions are chosen from these. The city championship is determined by inter-city meets.

LOWER SCHOOL BASKETBALL TEAM

First row: Ann Polesny, Sue Dasher, Caren Watts, Betty Simon, Cynthia Crounse. Second row: Sue Fossett, Marianna Brown, Vicki Spelman, Ann Pendergrass, Susan Hershede, Gloria Belmer.

Girls' Baseball

Another of the many sports offered to members of the Girls' Athletic Association is tennis. Besides just playing tennis, both singles and doubles tournaments are held each year. Any member of G.A.A. may enter these tournaments. At the Spring Banquet trophies are awarded to the winners. The Walnut Hill girls' tennis team is composed of the finalists and semifinalists of the tournament. The team competes in invitational matches with teams from other Cincinnati high schools.

Girls' Tennis

When spring comes and the weather warms up, girls play baseball in gym. After school, girls who wish may attend G.A.A. practice sessions and then are placed on intramural teams which vie for first place. Then G.A.A. board chooses a captain from each grade. These captains select their class teams which play against each other until there is a class winner.

Soon baseball play day arrives. Anyone who has gone to practices can be placed on teams. These teams compete with other schools, and one school is proclaimed champion.

Sally Casto, Bonnie McGowan, and Carol Schellenberg get ready to practice for the tournament.

Girls' Archery

Sagittarii! Grab your bow and arrows! Twice a week, about 25 excited girls go out for Girls' Archery. After three or four practice meetings, the girls are ready for their tournament. Each girls is allowed only one shot in the tournament. Therefore, the highest score is the winner, and she receives a medal.

This year's head of archery was capable Bonnie McGowan. Under her guidance, many new archers have learned the skillful techniques in this fascinating sport.

Our Walnut Hills Archery girls can proudly boast that last spring they came home with the city championship of Cincinnati.

Many girls have found new friends and memorable experiences in G.A.A.'s Archery. Any girl who would like to join is welcomed and is insured a good time.

G. A. A. Sports Banquet

Highlighting the G.A.A. year are the bi-annual banquets. The banquets are planned by members but are open to the entire student body. The first, in the fall, is given to attract new members. At both the Fall and Spring Banquets, girls earning the required number of points are presented with awards—school emblems, numerals, chevrons, or bracelets. Original skits are given by the winning intramural teams. The climax of the Spring Banquet is the announcement of the G.A.A. Ring Girl, the most outstanding senior member, who receives the coveted honor ring.

President, Sue Kelly, speaks at the fall banquet

The program ends with the singing of the G.A.A. song

Dear Barbara,

Its been so much fun being in your homeroom this year. I hope we're in the same one next year. Remember how we scrooged down the hall in the morn-ings in quest of your beloved Larry. Did you sign Mr. Hallenstein's annual?

To a real swell girl
If you ever get tired of muscles - just look
me up - good luck
Harold Taylor

To Barbara,
Loads of luck
always.

REMEMBRANCER.

For years, the basketball game between the senior football players and the faculty has been a solemn affair where the boys have had a chance to reflect on the experiences of the past six years. Above, the seniors record for posterity the glory that was Walnut Hills. In their pajamas are Jack Malatesta and Sam Knoll. Next to squatting number 10, Larry Cox, is Bob Stivers in a girl's gym suit. Next come haberdasher Clarence Lowe, Calypso Fritz Wuerfel, and Country Boy Tom Schaber. Saul Fettner wears his racoon coat, while Tom Meyers grins with glee. Hiding behind them is bashful Chris Barton. It is rumored that inside the horse are Fred Tower and Clay Atkins. Finishing out the group are Bob Young, Herb Kennedy, and Gene Wilson.

To Barbara with Good luck
that does it (Larry Cox)

Larry Cox (10) breaks up a central pass in the second quarter, only to have interference called, and the ball placed at that point.

Cox, Marx Head Prom, Reveal Soph Waiters

Larry Cox and Martin Marks will head the 1958 BA prom, which will be held Friday, May 2, from nine to 1. Arlene Fox and John Gaines are heading the decorations committee and are being assisted by Mr. Sowell and Mr. Williams.

Tom Roy is in charge of refreshments, and Jack Condon and Steve Crane are ticket takers.

The business committee will be headed by Alan Gordon, and Lee Abraham will handle invitations. Clay Atkins is in charge of the prom queen contest.

The prom will cost $3.25 per couple. At least one of the members of each twosome must be a junior or senior at Walnut Hills.

The prom waiters, all sophomores, include Don Bleick, Richard Brady, Gerry Brockfield, Henry Bryant, Nick Curtis, Jeff Dolbey, Herb Decovna, and Jim Emerson. Also in this list are Steve Goldman, Sandy Harris, Tom Hirschfeld, Rick Knauff, Bill Hyman, Dick Holt, Mathews, and Bill Moore.

Rapp, Jon Moore, Marty Peck, Bart Frank Wood, and Jon Spelman, Dave Watt, are other waiters, Don Simmons, and Steve Ziegler originally

The prom was called the A class and the juniors constituted the B class. The sophomore and freshman classes were known as the C and D classes respectively. The eighth and seventh grades were called e-flats and effies as today.
